Story: Clair was passing notes to Jefferson during Math class. Clair got the heart to put if he likes her. He responded with a no. This filled Clair with anger, so at the end of math class she stormed out the room. When Clair stormed out through the hallway to her next class, Jay tapped her on the shoulder. He said " He will never like you, so go with a guy that does! Let him go!" She turned around and said " i'm not giving up yet you jerk!" Then she slapped him and ran away crying. When her next class finished Clair went up to me yelling, " Why does he like you and not me!" Then she said with attitude " I mean look at you, you look like a troll." In my head I said Thats it im done . Finally, I yelled back saying " You are an uptight bossy, mean girl. She stayed quiet.

Then, Jay said "Hey girls why you two like Jefferson and not me?" We both said "because he is sweeter than you!" We were walking in different directions when he yelled" I can be sweet!....Kind of..." Thats when he realized that he will never have a chance with one of us. Next, at the end of the day me and Clair rushed up to Jefferson and we both said "who do you like more me or her?!" He said with a sad look on his face " I love you both to death.. but as friends." So then, i said " So who you like?" After, a long time without talking he finally said "Guys I don't like anyone because..i'm gay." Me and Clair looked at each other and hugged him tightly. Clair said "We support you all the way." Finally, we became best friends the three of us.
